Dear Fellow State Employee:

Public service is an incredible responsibility. The role you play is essential to the well-being of communities and families across the Commonwealth.

In appreciation for the work you do, I have proclaimed October 5-11 as Kentucky Public Service Recognition Week. This special time is designated to encourage a supportive, positive work environment and to promote professional growth through recognition, reward, and praise for understanding contributions.

I am also pleased to announce the Governor's Ambassador Award program. The awards highlight the stories of state employees like you who have positively impacted the lives of others through courage, leadership, community service, volunteerism, professional achievement, service, and teamwork.

The theme for the week is "State Employee - Making a Difference Every Day in Every Way." I am honored to lead such a diverse and talented workforce, and I'd like to personally thank you for what you do on a daily basis to make a difference in this great state we call home.

Sincerely,
